Dear mr. Danilo Calvache Cabrera

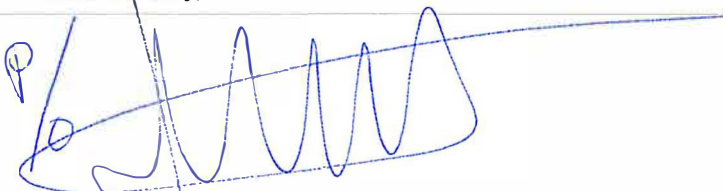

Dutch Design Foundation (DDF) has the goal to encourage and connect creative initiatives that strengthen the (inter)national profile of the region in the field of advanced technology and design. As such DDF it is responsible for the organisation of the Dutch Design Week (DDW). The 2015 edition of DDW was held from October 17. through October 25., 2015 in Eindhoven, The Netherlands.

As in the past years, DDW presented unparalleled ideas, individualistic works and insightful solutions devised by innovative designers. More than 2,500 designers displayed their work, ranging from industrial design, spatial design and graphic design to textile, sustainable design and design management & trends. The participants included established bureaus, high profile designers, talented newcomers and recently graduated designers, one of the reasons why DDW each year is the perfect meeting place for designers, companies, press and public. There were 99 different locations housing the 475 events.

You were one of the designers that showed their work on DDW 2015. You were part of the MTic-design knowledge exchange program. The program aimed to develop innovative products together and to share and create design knowledge for both professional and educational purposes. The program consisted of two parallel projects: design project and research project. You showed a set of desk containers named "Pol". You participated representing Colombia, and the Universidad de Nariño.

It was an honour for us that you and your work were part of DDW 2015.
We wish you every success in the future.

Yours sincerely,

Martijn Paulen
Director Capital D / Dutch Design Week
